MEDICAL SERVICES

A traditional Alaskan qayaq (kayak) is shown vertically on the left side of the page. It is a long, narrow, pointed boat made of dark wood, with a circular opening in the middle. A light-colored wooden paddle is positioned diagonally across the kayak, with its blade pointing towards the top right.

We offer patient-centered healthcare for the whole family. Your primary care team works to get to know you, your medical history and your needs and plays an important role as the key first contact in your wellness decisions. Our goal is to provide a medical home where you feel comfortable, listened to, and understood. Your primary care providers are on a mission to help you stay healthy with regular checkups and immunizations. But we're also here for you when you get injured or sick, whether it's an occasional acute illness or need support and guidance in managing a chronic condition. Some of the most important services we provide are:

- Well visits and physicals
- Immunizations both for children and adults
- Treating acute illness and injuries
- Managing chronic illness and coordinating complex care with specialists
- Nutrition and weight loss care
- Pediatric and adolescent care
- Care coordination and referrals

Loaned to Chugachmiut by Jim Ujoika, this model qayaq reflects the construction and artistry of a traditional Alaskan qayaq.

We take a whole-patient approach with a focus on prevention and staying well, but we're 100% there for you when something comes up, whether that means caring for you in-house or helping coordinate the care you need with specialists. We offer not only compassion and respect but also convenience, with flexible appointment times, easy scheduling and secure online access to results and other information.

The Purchased/Referred Care Program is a benefit to eligible Alaska Native and American Indian patients that provides funding for covered medical services not available at Alaska Native Medical Center (ANMC). Unless there is an emergency, this program requires a referral from a Chugachmiut health provider.

We also provide emergency and urgent care medical services and help to evaluate, stabilize, and transfer patients to the emergency room if needed. An emergency room doctor at ANMC authorizes transportation during an emergency.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SERVICES

Through a Behavioral Health Aide, counselor, or visiting clinician, we provide crisis, relationship, self-esteem, life skills, suicide prevention, violence prevention, substance abuse prevention and treatment, child abuse prevention, parenting skills, and adult protective services.

Mental, behavioral, emotional, and spiritual wellness services are delivered individually or in groups at the local behavioral health office, at home, at the school, or in other areas of the community.

Services may also be delivered virtually or by phone.

You are welcome and eligible to participate in the Llangarwik Recovery Camp at any community location. Continuing care therapy is a component of the recovery camp and is available for as long as needed.

Elder services are currently limited to nutrition and support for caregivers, but we have staff to assist you in finding help.

Join us for weekly 'Laugh and Learn' virtual presentations. Wide-ranging topics are discussed, and many laughs are shared.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Social services are provided in various settings, including at the clinic, at the school, at home, at the village office, by telephone, or virtually.

You can access Child Care and Elder Nutrition Services through the social services department.

To qualify for Burial Assistance, the deceased must have lived in the Chugach region for the last six months. If your family needs this assistance, don't hesitate to contact social services to discuss eligibility or receive a referral.

Child protection services are available but call the Alaska State Troopers or the Village Public Safety Officer in emergency cases.

Chugachmiut works with the State of Alaska to provide safety intervention services for elders and vulnerable adults. Call the Alaska State Troopers or the Village Public Safety Officer in case of emergency.

HERITAGE & EDUCATION SERVICES

Higher education and vocational training scholarships are available to eligible beneficiaries.

The Heritage Department is immersed in Sugpiaq language curriculum development, teacher fluency (Occupational Endorsement in Sugpiaq), expansion of the heritage kit program (both physical and online), archival preservation, sponsorship of the Chugach Region Elder Council, implementation of the Board adopted tribal education code, drafted an Elder Council approved Sugpiaq orthography, and dictionary development, and in conjunction with video developers and the Head Start Program developed a Sugpiaq video game intended for ages 3-5 to meet Federal Head Start learning standards.

PUBLIC SAFETY SERVICES

Direct services and technical assistance to the local tribal government for public safety are provided.

Chugachmiut provides training and technical assistance to the local Emergency Medical Response Team.

Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO) services are available when the local VPSO position is filled.

During times of vacancy, public safety is directed by the Tatitlek IRA Council and the Alaska State Troopers.

The VPSO program provides public safety services in Tatitlek by increasing response time to emergencies and ensuring an ongoing public safety presence.

A VPSO is trained in fire protection, emergency medical assistance, law enforcement, community policing, crime prevention, and search and rescue.

TRIBAL SERVICES & PASS-THROUGH PROGRAMS

Chugachmiut provides the Tribal Administrator & Assistant program in Tatitlek. In addition, we've signed an agreement with the Tatitlek IRA to provide financial guidance and technical assistance for the tribe's financial system. The tribe retains 100% control over its finances, and Chugachmiut provides guidance and technical assistance to ensure 'clean' financial statements and audits.

Upon request, we may provide technical assistance for governance, human resource management, information technology, and administrative and grant-writing functions of the Tatitlek IRA Council.

We pass-through funds to provide Local Health Initiatives, Caregiver Support, Indian Child Welfare, Johnson O'Malley, Small Tribes, Tribal Development, Heritage, Elder Food Incentives, and Youth Summer Work programs for administration by the Tatitlek IRA Council.
